The Hurtable

can't be assuaged.
Thought-out speech

or tossed remark
  cuts the same.

  (A wound to suck
and spew the pus.) No statute of limitations.

  No remedy, but some relief: introducing

  to another hurtable.